To the Democratic Voters of Leon County:

Let me, through this medium, express to you my grateful appreciation of your continued kindness and confidence, as evidenced by the bestowal of a nomination to the office of Assessor of Taxes, in the recent primary.

Be assured that my earnest, conscientious endeavor henceforth will be, as it has always been hitherto, to so perform faithfully, under my oath, the many intricate and responsible duties exacted by the law, that they will harmonize, as far as possible, with that which is right, just and a square deal to all.

Very truly yours,
WILLIAM O. AMES.

Gamble, T. M. Shackelford, Bryan Whitfield, Lewis Lively, Fred Moor, Misses Mary and Sarah Boney and Ella Nash.

CLASS NIGHT EXERCISES.

A Most Entertaining Program Under Direction of Professor Knibloe.

Class Night Exercises of Leon High School at Munro Opera House was a decided success. It was the first time anything of this kind had been attempted, and the class is to be congratulated, for every number on the program was good.

Miss Anna Godbold in a brilliant manner described some class scenes in L. H. S., and so good was her characterization that the students could be named, although no names were mentioned.

The Class History by Miss Bessie Wells was fine. She described in an interesting manner the trials, tribulation and the honors won by the members of the class from the primary school till they finished their career in the L. H. S.

Mr. Eugene Casler's class poem graduation was good and well delivered. This poem and the class song was composed by Mr. Casler shows he possesses considerable poeticability.

The Seniors' gift to the Juniors was presented by Mr. John McLin in a very impressive manner. It was accepted by Mr. William Reynolds of the Junior Class in a neat, witty speech.

The prophecy in which Miss Gladys visits each member of the class in the future in her airship, and describing the wonderful things accomplished by her class was a gem.

The class roast by Mr. Jules Salomon was one of the hits of the evening. His poetical introduction was good, but when he called out the different members of the class, and sticking his fork down into the roaster bringing out the proper article, the recipient as well as the audience was surprised. Among the best roasts were the following:

Mr. President, Malcolm McNeil,
You first the heated coals shall feel.
Malcolm, bashfulness is a painful thing,
To you a remedy, my friend, I bring,
Gaze on this rag girl
Till your head ceases to whirl,
Then, Malcolm, go after the real live thing.

Next Miss Rosa Yawn, I want you to feel

This is rougher than riding in Theo's automobile.

Rosa, your coiffures are simply great and fat,

Its a wonder they never were attacked by the cat.

Now do not shriek
When I disclose this freak,
And present you with this stuffed rat.

Miss Gladys, Short by name, and long by nature,

Who always thinks she's the only "creature."

Gladys Short, you learned lass,
The smartest of all our wonderful class.

That you may better
See your only competitor,
I give unto you this small looking glass.

The response by Mr. John McLin was to the point, and after some good poetical advice said:

Jules Salomon, the wise man who boasts
Of the cruel way his friends he roasts.

So Jules, the roaster, who on himself dotes,

Although your wit hit harder than Billy goats.

Lest that smile come off
Whenever you cough,
I give unto you this package of Quaker Oats.

The last will and testament of the class was read by Mr. Thomas Pruitt.

His introductory address was good and well delivered. The audience certainly appreciated the dispositions made of the many gifts by the class.

The farewell address by Miss Rosa Yawn was a well delivered and fit tribute to the Board of Education and the Faculty of L. H. S.

The musical numbers furnished by the L. H. S. Sextette, consisting of Messrs. Tom Pruitt, John McLin, Eugene Casler, Jules Salomon, Russell Mickler and Samuel Wahnish, were the hits of the evening, and they generously responded to encore.

The last number on the program was the Class Song, which was sung with feeling, and the exercises of the class of 1910 were at an end.

Certainly the class is to be congratulated on such a successful performance. Praises and congratulations were heard in all directions as the audience left the opera house for the efficient manner in which Dr. Knibloe and Miss Brevard had inspired and trained the talented class of 1910. This was certainly the best entertainment ever given by the L. H. S.

A recent communication from Sophocly to The True Democrat in reference to the supposed operation of a blind tiger in The True Democrat building was construed by some as a reflection upon Mr. A. S. The editor of the paper, in justice to Mr. Wells, wants to say that, so far as our comment was concerned, there was no intention to reflect directly or indirectly upon that gentleman or any other.

To the Democratic Voters of Leon County.

I take this opportunity of expressing my thanks and appreciation to you for the vote you gave me in the primary of May 10th. While I was not victorious in being nominated to the office to which I aspired, I feel deeply grateful to the good people of Leon for the splendid vote I received. The campaign through which we have just passed has in many respects been exceedingly pleasant to me. I have enjoyed meeting and mingling with you, and feel that many with whom I have heretofore had only a passing acquaintance may now be counted among my personal friends. Again thanking you, I am

Yours truly,

RECITAL BY MISS DALZELL.

In College Chapel Saturday Night.—Reading of "Strongheart."

On Saturday evening, May 14, beginning at 8:15 o'clock, Miss Mildred Dalzell, director of the department of expression at the State College for Women, will give a recital in the college chapel.

The subject of her reading will be "Strongheart," which is considered one of the finest college stories of this time. The central figure is the heroic Indian brave, afterwards chief of the Ojibways, who takes his place in civilization to prepare to lead his tribe to higher living.

In his experiences in his new world Strongheart exhibits the heroic struggle of character against circumstances, until he carries the sympathy of all his readers.

Miss Dalzell's home in Michigan is "near to the land of the Ojibways." This location has given her an opportunity to learn the traditions of this tribe so famous in American history and poetry. Her superior accomplishments as an artist in expression will make the program one of unusual interest and enjoyment. The public is cordially invited to attend.
